

RECALL SUBPOENAS FOR MRS. HARRIMAN AND MISS BLISS

Senators Decide Not to Ask
Women to Testify in Campaign Contribution Probe.

PRESENCE NOT NEEDED.

Any Papers Bearing On Roosevelt Fund to Be Produced.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21.—Mrs. Harriman, widow of Edward H. Harriman, the railroad magnate, and Miss Bliss, daughter of the late Cornelius N. Bliss, former Treasurer of the Republican National Committee, will be excused from testifying before the Senate committee investigating campaign expenditures.

Senator Clapp and Senator Pomeroy have decided not to ask these women to present to the committee any papers in their possession bearing on campaign contributions. A sergeant-at-arms of the Senate was sent to New York with authority to subpoena them. There he was assured by C. C. Teggthoff, formerly private secretary of Mrs. Harriman, that Mrs. Harriman had no personal knowledge of any contribution and that he would be willing to produce any documents of the Harriman estate for the inspection of the committee.

Miss Bliss is co-executor of her father's estate. Cornelius N. Bliss Jr. has assumed a representative of the committee he would produce every scrap of paper the Bliss estate has relating to contributions and that it would be unnecessary to subpoena Miss Bliss. It was upon these assurances that Mrs. Harriman and Miss Bliss were excused.

The "big five" of the Standard Oil Company, with heads of the leading insurance companies of New York, have been formally requested to testify before the Senate committee.

Sergeant-at-Arms Ramsdell served subpoenas in New York on six witnesses. These were Secretary C. T. White, General Counsel M. P. Elliott and Director W. H. Libby of the Standard Oil; John E. McCall of the New York Life Insurance Company; Cornelius N. Bliss Jr., son of the former treasurer of the National Republican Committee, and C. C. Teggthoff, for a long time private secretary to Edward H. Harriman.

Col. Ramsdell served subpoenas duces tecum on the six witnesses. This means that they must submit, in addition to oral testimony, all letters, books and documents which the Senate committee desires bearing upon campaign donations.

From Teggthoff is desired information regarding the gathering by Mr. Harriman of a $500,000 campaign fund for Col. Roosevelt in 1904.

Cornelius N. Bliss Jr. has been asked to submit books and accounts, if any remain, kept by his father regarding campaign contributions, both from Mr. Harriman and Standard Oil men.

The summoning of John C. McCall of the New York Life Insurance Company disclosed a new line of investigation by the committee—insurance company contributions to campaign coffers. Heads of the Equitable and other big insurance companies will probably follow McCall, Senator Clapp intimated today.

All of the committee witnesses are ordered to hold their tongues in testimony to testify September 23, when the hearings begin, but the order of their testimony has not been decided upon.

Those Eugenic Twins Coming On Fine; Boy to Be a Philosopher, Girl a Voter

JESSE D. GORTON AND THE EUGENIC TWINS

Their 80-Year-Old Father
Says They Are Both
Very Intelligent.

THEY'RE TEETHING NOW

Dad Will Follow Teachings
Set Down in Rousseau's
"Confessions."

"What's become of the Eugenic Twins?"

That is the question which somebody asked The Evening World, and The Evening World sent right over to the home of Dr. Daniel Allyn Gorton at No. 62 Eleventh street, Brooklyn, to find out. Here is the answer:

The twins will be five months old on Sept. 25; they are cutting their teeth now and they weigh 10 and 9 pounds respectively. But that is far from being a full report; just listen to this:

Allyn, the Eugenic Boy, shows signs of being a philosopher like his dad. Leonora, the Eugenic Girl, gives every indication of becoming a suffragette.

Surely the world does not move so fast that everybody has forgotten the Eugenic Twins by this time. It was only last April—on the 25th, to be exact—that they were born and their father, his eyes alight with pride, told them all about the theory of Eugenics which had been followed in bringing them into the world.

Dr. Gorton was seventy-eight years old when he married Miss Bertha Tenenbein, his secretary, in June, 1911, and the wife chose as her motto, "I will follow the teachings of Rousseau." Friends of the couple thought they saw only an autumn romance in the wedding until April 25, when the twins arrived at Dr. Gorton's house. Then the proud father sent a circular letter to his many friends in which he gave the whole secret away.

HE COULDN'T WELL GUESS WRONG.

His secretary and he had married, the doctor advised his friends, to "fulfill a deep purpose and actuated by the highest and most exalted motives." That was to bring into the world a perfect child. Dr. Gorton, who was a deep student of Eugenics, believed in the eugenic theory that determination of the sex of a child is not only possible, but practical for the parents. He decided that it should be a boy.

Before ever he had married Miss Tenenbein Dr. Gorton had looked up her ancestry and discovered that it was a lovely, intelligent stock. He was very sure of his own sturdy blood, insured by a clean life of hard work. So he was assured that not only would it be a boy, but a perfect boy, strong of body and rich in intellect.

But then the doctor and his wife twined. It was twins. Better yet, according to the doctor, now they had not only a perfect boy, but a perfect girl. So the world first heard of the Eugenic Twins.

The children weighed five pounds apiece at birth. Now, let Dr. Gorton tell how they have grown:

TIMES ARE HARD! EVEN GOOD CROOKS CAN'T MAKE LIVING!

Pair of Exports Caught Trying Old Game, Say "Good Old Days" Are Past.

James Farrell of No. 782 Ninth avenue and Frank Daly of No. 216 Warren street, Jersey City, clerks, as they called themselves when taken before Deputy Commissioner Dougherty, looked shamefully at their feet, when they saw that Capt. Faurel, in charge of the detective bureau, recognized them as veteran crooks of renown and great ability in the days of Superintendent Byrne. For they had been caught in Battery Park by Detectives Muggs and Micelli, working the depleted, threadbare, old "dropped envelope" game. It was as though Corbett had been caught painting patent medicine advertisements.

The pair had been observed dropping the envelope with the false fold of bills in it again and again on the park sidewalks. If the game had worked, they would have attracted a greenhorn enough to pick it up and then would have pointed upon him and claimed a division of the contents, taking security in real money from him while he counted the imitation money, and running away with it. But not an immigrant bit at the bait. One even ran after them with the envelope, when they had worked so cunningly that they had seen it dropped.

Yet Farrell is described in Byrne's "who's who in crime" as one of the most skillful of "scratches" (forgers) and a member of the crew which, in 1900 forced B. T. Habbitt, the soap man, out of nearly $1,000,000. Farrell has spent sixteen years of his life in prison. Once in Gonzales, Tex., he escaped from his cell and fought off prison guards and militia for thirty-six hours, until the militia was exhausted.

To Daly the Byrne book gave credit as a master of swindlers and one of the smoothest confidence men in the city. He has been observed late much in the company of wire-tapper swindlers. He has been arrested eleven times since 1889 and has served seven prison terms.

"Getting down pretty low, aren't you?" Faurel asked Daly. "Got to get the price of a living somehow," said Daly. "There's no big money loose uptown any more."

THEY'LL SPEND 10 DAYS
ON ISLAND AS PAYMENT FOR THEIR RIDE IN TAXI

Mr. Harris and His Lady Friend
Had Fine Time Till It Came to Settling.

The meter ticked on for three hours this morning and while it carried Charles Harris of Pittsfield, Mass., and Irene Dale, who says her home is in Astoria Park, on a joy ride that included a run through Central Park and a final stop at the West Sixty-eighth street police station. Harris could not pay the $3.00 the meter showed as the price of the taxi trip, nor the $10 fine imposed in the West Side Court as the price of his failure to pay Anthony Minido, the chauffeur, so he went to the island for ten days, along with his companion on the cab ride.

Harris, who said he had been stopping at the Hotel Manhattan, said he could easily raise the fine were he allowed to go to the hotel, but his request was refused. According to Minido he picked up Harris and Miss Dale at Jack's restaurant in Sixth avenue with another couple. He drove through the park and north in Eighth avenue as far as One Hundred and Forty-fifth street.

The second couple, he said, got out of the cab at Riverside Drive and Ninety-sixth street on the return trip. At Columbus Circle Harris went through his pockets and found only $2, so Minido insisted the journey be continued at his expense. If necessary, as far as the station house. Miss Dale said her New York address was the Empire Hotel. She was handsomely gowned and Harris was well dressed.

It was intimated that at least two days would be needed to dry out the couple. Officials, however, insisted that the couple could be put in condition, with the aid of the sun, in a few hours. A number of the local associations favoring running the Vanderbilt event to-morrow (Sunday).

COURSE AT MILWAUKEE STILL TOO
DANGEROUS FOR THE AUTOISTS—MAY RUN OFF EVENT TO-MORROW.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Sept. 21.—The Vanderbilt cup race was called off for today, the condition of the track still being too dangerous for the speeding autoists. Recent rains have left inches of mud on some parts of the course.

Referee Pardington to the time and date for running the Vanderbilt race would be announced officially at 3 o'clock this afternoon. Meantime officers of the Milwaukee Automobile Dealers' Association, American Automobile Association executives, entrants and drivers in the various races were called into conference at a downtown hotel.

It was intimated that at least two days would be needed to dry out the course. Officials, however, insisted that the couple could be put in condition, with the aid of the sun, in a few hours. A number of the local associations favoring running the Vanderbilt event to-morrow (Sunday).

IRISH LEADER WHO SAYS LORDS MUST SWALLOW HOME RULE BILL SOON

MR. Wm. REDMOND

William H. K. Redmond, M. P., brother of John Redmond, the Irish leader in Parliament, arrived today on the White Star liner Baltic, bound for the convention of the United Irish League, to be held in Philadelphia on Monday. He was accompanied by his wife.

When he was asked about the status of the Home Rule bill in Parliament Mr. Redmond said:

"As to the opposition to that bill, I believe that it will not prove stable in the final vote. The Government has a majority in its favor, and it will surely pass the Commons. What will become of it in the Lords is, of course, problematical, but I believe that public sentiment will run through the upper house. There is no difference of opinion on Home Rule between Liberals and the Labor party. They will work together on this score."

Mr. Redmond said after the conclusion of the Philadelphia convention he will attend the meetings of the League in various cities and will then go to Canada to be the guest of Mr. Doherty, Minister of Justice in the Borden Government and an old friend of years standing.

The largest meeting scheduled for Mr. Redmond in the United States is to be held in Carnegie Hall on Sunday evening, Sept. 23. This affair, which will be the endorsement of a committee of leading New Yorkers headed by Alton B. Parker, Justice Martin J. Keogh and Herman Ridder, promises to be the most notable Irish Home Rule demonstration ever held in the city.

FORMER JOCKEY FULLER
GOES TO THE WORKHOUSE.

Grover Cleveland Fuller, who ten years ago rode the horses of Tim Sullivan and others to many a victory, was today sent to the workhouse for three months on a charge preferred in the West Side Court by Mrs. Rose Sylvester, a bride of nineteen, who lives at No. 122 West Sixty-fifth street.

Mrs. Sylvester asserted that Fuller, who was out on bail pending trial for the alleged theft of a watch and chain, entered her apartment on noon yesterday and attempted to embrace her. Her cries brought neighbors and he fled, but was recognized. A few hours later the ex-jockey was arrested.

Fuller in the old days was one of the turf favorites. He fell from a mount and broke his leg, and for some time thereafter it was said he was one of Sullivan's pensioners. At one time he was credited with being worth several hundred thousand dollars.

JAIL-BREAKER WITSON CARRIED MAKE-UP BOX, RODE A MOTORCYCLE

Police Find His Supposed Lodging Place in Philadelphia—
Second Escape Foiled.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 21.—Additional light on the methods employed by George Witson, known here as Wilson, burglar and New York Tombs jail breaker, charged with a series of robberies in Atlantic City, was shed today when City Hall Detective Cogan and Tucker discovered the local headquarters of the daring criminal.

Acting on a tip received by Capt. Cameron, the detectives went to a furnished room house in the neighborhood of Thirty-second and Dauphin streets. They found that a man answering Witson's description had occupied a room in the house for the past month.

In the room was found a mask, a wig, a complete make-up box and a motorcycle.

Witson is under special guard to-day he having picked the lock in his cell in Central station in City Hall late last night, but failed to escape.

Witson used the fork brought in with his supper. He bent one of the prongs, with which he manipulated the tumblers of the big lock on the cell door until all he had to do was to pull the door open, climb over the top of the cell and make good his escape.

When Jailer John Collins went to the dishes after Witson had finished eating he noticed that the fork was missing. He searched the cell and discovered the bent fork. Witson was moved to another cell and a guard placed over him.

The claims of New York and New Jersey for the prisoner may have to be fought out before Gov. Tener will decide as to which State should have him. Officially the local authorities have received no word that Witson is wanted in New York.

Despatches from Atlantic City indicate that Miss Price, who was a friend of Witson's and from whom he stole jewelry to the value of $1,500, may not prosecute him if she can get her property back. She is ill in her apartments, more from indignation than anything else.

While waiting to see what the authorities will do with him, Witson is just as busy as ever. He is immediately following his arrest. He says he would rather be taken back to New Jersey, as he fears something may happen to him if he is incarcerated in the Tombs after his escape.

"It will be harder to get out now," remarked Witson, "since they have put six more lights in the courtyard of the Tombs and have placed lights on the outside of the building."

Find Body Of States Island.

The body of an unidentified man was found floating off Fort Wadsworth, Staten Island to-day, and was taken to an undertaking establishment in Stapleton. The man was about forty-five years old, five feet six inches in height and weighed about 150 pounds. There were two religious medals on the body. It was apparently a case of accidental drowning.

NINE MEN LASHED AT WHIPPING POST IN DELAWARE JAIL

One, a White Man, Given
20 Blows Before He Begins
Two Years Sentence.

WILMINGTON, Del., Sept. 21.—The whipping post, which is still an instrument of legal punishment in Delaware, was brought into play in the jail yard of the County workhouse today. Nine men were chained to it and each received from ten to twenty lashes on the bare back.

One of the men, lashed by Warden Crawford until great red weals stood out on his flesh, was Charles E. Chamberlain, white, twenty-two years old. He was arrested recently in Elizabeth, N. J., and on conviction of robbery was sentenced to receive twenty lashes and to serve two years in prison.

Chamberlain received his punishment without an outcry, but was badly used up at the finish. The others whipped were negroes.
